Gov. Wm. Pinckney Whyte Elected U. S. Senator from Maryland.

ANNAPOLIS, Jan 21.—In joint Convention of the General Assembly to day, Gov. William Pinckney Whyte was declared duly elected United States Senator for a term of six years from March 187[illegible].

Louisiana Legislature—Constitutional Amendment Adopted.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan 21.—The House to day passed by unanimous vote, the Senate having already done so, the proposed constitutional amendment limiting the State debt to fifteen millions and taxation for all purposes to twelve and a half millions, guaranteeing principal and interest of new consolidated bonds to be issued in funding debt and providing that revenues derived each year from taxation shall be devoted solely to the expenses of that year.

The funding bill also passed the House.

Locomotive Explosion.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan 21.—The engine of a freight train near Pass Michael exploded to day killing the fireman and engineer, and wrecking four cars.

The Samana Bay Company After Money.

NEW YORK, Jan 22.—A cable dispatch states that the Samana Bay Company is negotiating in London a loan for $5,000,000 as a part of the negotiation the Company agree to take up the Hartmont bonds which have been repudiated by the Baez Government.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Pinchback Floodgated—His Integrity Brought in Question.

CHICAGO, Jan 22.—A Washington special to the Inter Ocean says the resolution of Senator Morton asking for authority to investigate circumstances attending Pinchback's election was presented on account of assurances given members of the Committee that the election was procured by open bribery. It is alleged that Pinchback received $15,000 in money from Norton, a Register in Bankruptcy, to withdraw as a candidate in favor of Norton, but instead of withdrawing, Pinchback used the funds for his advancement. It is also charged that he secured members of the Legislature by paying their board and other bills, taking their orders on the Treasury for the same but never presenting them. Senator Morton while still confident of the legality of the Kellogg Legislature still insists that these charges of personal corruption shall be fully investigated.

The Howard Court-Martial.

WASHINGTON, Jan 21.—The House Military Committee agreed by a vote of 7 to 4 to report a joint resolution requesting the President to convene a Court of Inquiry of five officers to examine the charges made by the Secretary of War against Gen. Howard and also adopted an amendment offered by [illegible] of Ohio instructing the Court to report their opinion as well upon the moral as upon the technical and legal responsibility for such offenses.

The Modoc War Claims.

WASHINGTON, Jan 21.—The bill for the relief of citizens of Oregon introduced to-day by Senator Mitchell, of that State declares that it is the duty of the Government to protect its citizens on the frontiers who are engaged in peaceful and honorable vocations and therefore it is proposed that three Commissioners be appointed to inquire into the subject of depredations on citizens of Oregon by Indians, the damages sustained etc. They are to proceed to the frontier and take testimony. The bill was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Rumored Prospective Change in the Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, Jan 21.—A rumor was in circulation to-night that a change would soon occur in the Cabinet, that Richardson would resign. The report lacks official confirmation and the fact that Richardson so late as yesterday avowed that he entertained no intention of resigning tends to render the rumor very doubtful.

Postmasters Appointed for Oregon.

WASHINGTON, Jan 22.—The following named persons have been appointed postmasters for Oregon: Samuel Gailes, Gervais, Marion county; J C Thompson, Mountain House, Yamhill county; Henry S. Bowen, Summit, Benton county; Charles H Miller, Upper Ochoco, Wasco county.

Chief-Justice Waite.—Eulogistic Speeches by Edmunds, Thurman, Sumner and Others.—The Nominee Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The Senate was in executive session an hour and a half this afternoon engaged in consideration of the nomination of Waite for Chief-Justice of the Supreme Court. Senators Edmunds, Sherman and Thurman spoke in favor of confirmation eulogizing the nominee's integrity, fine legal attainments and suitable temperament for the position. Sumner expressed his gratification at hearing such favorable reports of Waite from those who knew him better than he did. No remarks were made in opposition to the nomination, and the vote on confirmation was unanimous—63 in the affirmative.

Pinch Gets Mad and Threatens to Tell What He Knows About His Fellow-Scoundrels in Louisiana.

WASHINGTON, Jan 22.—It is reported that Senator Morton's action in reference to Pinchback's seat in the Senate was based upon the confession of Pinchback himself of questionable practices insuring his election by the Louisiana Legislature. Damaging reports about his election having reached Morton, he sent for Pinchback who made a clean breast, whereupon Morton abandoned the policy of seating Pinchback on a prima facie case, and asked that the matter be carried to the Committee of Privileges and Elections to investigate the conduct of Pinchback. The latter is said to be very angry at his treatment, and threatens damaging disclosures regarding the operations of Louisiana politicians. The reason of his course is said to be his exclusion from benefits and privileges of the Kellogg ring.

NEW YORK, Jan 22.—The bark Jahow bound from Buenos Ayres for San Francisco put into Rio Janeiro with the loss of mainsail and other damage. She had been spoken Nov 14th in latitude 55° 50' south, longitude 70° 12' west with mainmast gone by the deck and mizzen topmast carried away.

BOSTON, Jan 22.—At a meeting of iron and steel consumers held here yesterday an association was formed to protect mutual interests. Resolutions were adopted to petition Congress to reduce the duty on steel and to make the import wholly specific without regard to value.

What the President Proposes to do Next Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, Jan 22.—The President on Tuesday afternoon will entertain at dinner the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States and other guests.

The commission of Chief Justice Waite has not been prepared nor is it known when he will come to Washington.

WEST INDIES.

HAVANA, Jan 22.—A dispatch says according to special official reports of the engagement at Los Melones near Camaguay, the troops under Espanda met 1,800 insurgents and after a very fight of six hours and a half the Spaniards retreated having four officers and fifty privates wounded, Espanda having his nose shot off. Private [illegible] advices say Espanda had 100 [illegible] wounds or capture.

Interior California.

MENDOCINO, Jan 21.—A heavy storm has been raging up the coast for the past week. Last Wednesday night the wind sprung up from the southeast, and blew a perfect gale until Friday morning when the sun came out through a heavy hail storm. A new building in course of construction was demolished, boards from lumber yards were carried across the street, fences prostrated and roads blocked by falling trees. The Cloverdale stage with mail, express and baggage was carried away in the flood while attempting to cross Dry creek last Friday. The driver was seriously injured in endeavoring to save his horses, one of which was drowned. Three passengers narrowly escaped by swimming ashore. The letter mail and baggage has since been recovered but nothing has been heard of the treasure box. At Point Arena the boilers and smoke stack of the Garcia lumber mills fell through and are now in the river bed. The mill narrowly escaped being washed away. It still rains and the prospect for a continuance is good. The schooner [illegible] safely rode out the storm and is now loading in this harbor.

STOCKTON, Jan 21.—The weather continues very unsettled. It has rained and snowed at intervals during the day. It is very cold this evening, with very heavy southeast wind.

MARTINEZ, Jan 21.—The Governor having declined to commute the sentence of death of Marshall Martin to imprisonment for life, his execution will take place Friday, January 23d, at 10 o'clock. The gallows is now in process of erection. The prisoner though calm, seems conscious of his impending fate.

The weather has been very pleasant for the past two days. To night rain has set in.

OAKLAND, Jan 21.—The trial of Sheriff Morse's son, charged with setting fire to McClure's Military Academy last September came off to-day in the County Court. The evidence is all in and the case goes to the jury to-morrow morning.

OAKLAND, Jan 22.—The jury in the case of Sheriff Morse's son, charged with setting fire to McClure's Military Academy in September last, this morning brought in a verdict of not guilty.

STOCKTON, Jan 22.—Henry Chappell, who fell under the railroad car at Lodi the latter part of November last, sustaining a severe fracture of the arm and internal injuries, is in a hopeless condition this evening. The surgeon at the time of the accident removed several pieces of bone from the arm believing that amputation could be thus avoided. Mortification set in in the early part of the present month and the arm was amputated. Chappell's family consisting of his wife and three children [illegible] are in destitute circumstances.

H. B. Platt, contractor of the Stockton and Ione narrow gauge railroad, is in the city attending to the interests connected with that road and is looking toward a speedy resumption of preliminary work.

The weather has at last cleared off.

Wheat is very quiet at about $2 20, with few sales.

NEVADA.

PALISADE, Jan 21.—Eugene Barrett, telegraph operator here on the Atlantic & Pacific wires, shot himself this evening, about four o'clock, the ball going through his heart. It is supposed it was done accidentally, as no one was in the room at the time and the pistol was found lying by his side.

A BRIDE TURNED TO STONE.

A FATAL DRAUGHT TURNS A WOMAN TO STONE IN A FEW HOURS—[illegible] ACCOUNT [illegible] THE [illegible] LOUISIANA PHYSICIAN.

To the Editor of the New York Sun—Sir: There have been so many comments in the papers and I received so many letters which it is impossible for me to answer in reference to the curious case of petrifaction which recently came under my notice, that I am constrained to write an account of the whole affair, giving at the same time my hypothesis in explanation of the rationale.

Mr Frederick Haller is by profession a lawyer. He early acquired, however, quite a fondness for the natural sciences, especially geology. He has perhaps the largest and most complete geological cabinet in Louisiana. Whenever he could release himself from the [illegible] of law he would [illegible] himself in his 'Rocky Study,' as he calls the apartment where he keeps his cabinet and books relating to science, and there passes many hours in experiment, in reading and in manipulating the geological and paleontological collections which through a period of nearly thirty years he has drawn together.

THE [illegible] BRIDE.

Having married early in life, some five years ago he lost his wife and gave up his household affairs to an elderly maiden sister. Something over a month ago he married again, taking as his bride a beautiful and charming young girl of sixteen. As physician to her father's family and an intimate friend I was an honored guest at the wedding ceremony. I am sure I never saw a more beautiful and happy bride. No one could have dreamed of the strange fate which awaited her.

On the morrow after the wedding Mr Haller took his young bride to his residence, a splendid mansion in the suburbs of the village. She was accompanied by a number of her female friends, who were to spend the day with her, while he, having business of importance at his office in town, promised to return as speedily as he could dispose of his business. The bride being installed in her new home cared to take little notice of household matters for the first day of matrimonial life, preferring to amuse herself with the friends that had come over with her, knowing that the domestic affairs were in good hands.

IN THE [illegible] CABINET.

At about 10 o'clock she and some three or four of her maiden friends went into Mr Haller's 'Rocky Study' already mentioned, to look over the cabinet of curiosities, where they amused themselves in frivolous gayety such as young and thoughtless girls would indulge in, harmless and innocent to all appearance. Among the curiosities which Mr Haller had gathered were several round boulders brought from Arkansas. These boulders on being broken presented in the central space a crystalline formation and are usually not much larger than the double fists. One of these, however, was unusually large, measuring twenty one inches in circumference. Frequently the internal surface, always hollow, contains water, or rather a concentrated solution of silicum water. The fact was known to one of the young ladies, who mentioned it. At once they all began to wonder whether there was water in the large boulder. Two of the smaller ones had been broken, showing in the center large crystals, and had contained water according to the assertion of the young lady, who had gained her information at some other time in a previous visit.

THE FATAL DRAUGHT.

At once it was proposed to break the large one, and several ineffectual attempts were made by them with a geological hammer always present. They called to their aid a colored man, a servant on the place, who was requested to break open the rock, as they called it. He readily assented, being willing to thus render his first service to the new mistress. A pitcher being placed underneath the boulder as the man held it, one sturdy blow of his stalwart arm cracked it and the fluid within ran out and was collected in the pitcher, scarcely losing a drop, there being half a pint of it. A few additional blows opened the boulder, presenting large, fine, transparent crystals of quartz. These were much admired, and other friends were called from the parlor to look at the novelty.

The bride without ever giving it a thought conceived the notion of drinking the water from the boulder. She poured most of it into a glass tumbler nearly filling it, and lifting it to her lips she drank first to the health of her husband, then to the unmarried friends in the room, wishing them shortly to be happy brides like herself, and drained the glass, all being done so quickly that no one had time to interfere or to think that any consequences might follow.

[illegible] IN DEATH.

At first it was thought that no harm was done, and it was considered a fine joke, and much merriment was made. But in a few minutes the youthful bride complained of excessive pain in the stomach and she began to realize the rashness of her action. A messenger was sent in haste for her husband and myself. Mr Haller's office being near my own, we received the message almost simultaneously, and we rapidly drove together in a buggy to his house. When we arrived she was dead, a period of fifteen minutes having elapsed from the time of taking the fatal draught to the time of extinction of life. They were just laying her out on our arrival. To my surprise I found she had grown in that short period so rigid as to render it difficult to straighten her limbs. In the course of three fourths of an hour her entire body became as hard and as inflexible as bone.

I pass over the grief and consternation of the husband and the family as something too sacred for remark, confining myself exclusively to the scientific facts. It was plain that something akin to ossification had taken place. On more minute examination and inquiry I found that the dissolved silica she had taken into her stomach had been absorbed and transmitted by the chylopoietic apparatus and blood vessels throughout the system, and that her whole body was [illegible].

A [illegible].

The case being so singular and so sudden the husband and the bride's family consented to a partial post mortem examination, other medical men coming to my assistance. We found it impossible to cut through any portion with our scalpels. Dr Ferguson broke his scalpel in the first attempt. We were able only to break through the chest with a hatchet, finding extreme difficulty in entering the thoracic cavity, the contents being all solidified. The heart we found as firm and as solid as a stone, resembling a piece of cornelian as to both color and consistency. Entering the abdominal cavity only by means of repeated blows of the hatchet we found the contents of the stomach, the food, the bile, the liver and other neighboring organs solidified. It is needless to say that we found it impossible to remove anything except in fractured pieces. The arteries and veins were perfectly rigid, the blood in them being [illegible].

[illegible]

Having satisfied ourselves of the stony character of the entire body and its contents it was delivered to the family and interred. Some suspicion having been expressed that there might have been poison in the pitcher which held the [illegible] all the [illegible] [illegible].

My first object was to secure the remains of the solution of silica left in the pitcher, there being about an ounce, which I [illegible] put into a vial, corking [illegible]. [illegible] this have been variously tested, the result each time showing a very strong solution of silica in pure water. The [illegible] which had been left in the tumbler exposed to evaporation became in a short time a colored clear concrete resembling flint, or rather transparent quartz, yielding sparks on being struck against steel.

THE CAUSE OF THE PETRIFACTION.

The pathology in this case, while it is very striking, is very plain, although I differ with my confreres in regard to the final or ultimate cause. It is well known as a geological fact that petrifactions are but the substitution of [illegible] of [illegible] the interstitial [illegible]. It is well known [illegible] that [illegible] substances, usually medicinal agents, [illegible] introduced into the stomach are rapidly conveyed to every portion of the human body, in some instances in the space of two minutes. In this instance the fluid of quartz [illegible] was held in solution, and [illegible] was rapidly conveyed everywhere throughout the body, filling the interstitial spaces, and the [illegible] was [illegible] petrifaction, [illegible] the tissues [illegible] in death [illegible] process.

This is the geological view, and while it is in the main correct it wholly fails to explain why so small an amount of the solution should petrify so large a body and in so brief a time. I do not believe that on the hypothesis of infiltration alone petrifaction would take place so rapidly. There is no doubt of the absorption of the dissolved silica and of its rapid conveyance to every part of the body, but that the petrifaction is owing to the infiltration [illegible] I am not about [illegible]. It must be explained upon [illegible].

A DIFFERENT HYPOTHESIS.

It is well known by physiologists that the proteine compounds—albumen, fibrin, casein and gluten—are the proximate or organic elements, along with some other ultimate or inorganic elements which constitute the components of the human body. The proteine compounds are formed by carbon, hydrogen, nitrogen and oxygen in definite proportions, according to my distinguished countryman, Prof Kolliker, thus: [illegible] each having different amounts of phosphorus and sulphur, this combination forming so many molecules.

Now silica is a compound of oxygen and silicon. In a very small amount of silica the number of atoms [illegible] is immense. The very moment the silica enters the circulation and is distributed throughout the capillaries it [illegible] with [illegible] each atom of silicon [illegible] combine with a proteine molecule. [illegible] which form [illegible] the albumen, the fibrin, the casein and the gluten at once change these organic [illegible] into [illegible] petrified [illegible] destroying as it were the vital germs [illegible]. I submit [illegible].

TO ALL INQUIRERS.

In conclusion I would say that I have invariably answered all correspondents who have sought information from me in regard to this case, who have written in a candid manner searching after the truth, and who do not seem to write out of mere idle curiosity. One correspondent went so far as to ask whether the body could be obtained for exhibition, offering a large sum of money. Such unfeeling wretches are not worthy of being replied to. I will add that I may still be addressed at Marksville, La., but that after the 1st of March I shall be for the greater part of the next year at Parchim, in the province of Mecklenburg Schwerin.

S. GHYWK FORSCHIK, M. D.

P. S.—That the case is not altogether anomalous I will quote a passage from Dr Austin Flint's recent Treatise upon the Practice of Medicine, page 5:

"A change in composition due to the deposit of earthy salts in more or less abundance constitutes what is called calcareous degeneration, calcification or cretifaction. As just stated, this is apt to supervene upon the atheromatous deposit in the large arteries and with in the heart leading in the latter situation to various deformations of the valves. The term ossification is in general incorrectly applied to this change. Virchow prefers the name petrifaction."

The italics are the author's own. Further down on the same page he adds:

"I have met with a case of old pleuritis in which the pleura had become hardened by calcareous deposit to such an extent that it was removed entire with several quarts of liquid which it contained, and when opened and the liquid removed it did not collapse but retained the form of a solid box."

This was evidently a case of partial petrifaction not extending throughout the entire system, and not to any vital parts so as to produce immediate death. S. G. F.

Mainland dispatches report a heavy fall of snow along the valley of the Fraser on Friday last.

Two hundred [illegible] intended to draw lots for the [illegible] arrived at Victoria by the [illegible] from the Mainland.

A dispatch from Lytton reports snow thirty inches on a level and drifts six feet in depth. Travel on the road is impossible.

A [illegible] demented man named Casey, who had been running about naked in the bush near Cedar Hill, has been put in jail.

The last letter from Clinton, Lytton and Cache Creek seem to regard the rumor of an Indian rising as of very little importance.

The B. C. Benevolent Society has elected R. Finlayson President, R. [illegible] Jackson Vice President, M. T. Johnston Treasurer, T. H. Long Secretary.

The contract for erecting the lighthouse at Point Atkinson has, it would seem, been awarded to Mr Arthur Finney, of Nanaimo, for $4,200.

J. Buck, well known for many years as usher at the Victoria theater, died in the Royal Hospital on the 19th. He was very respectably connected in Canada.

The Colonist says the Ministry suffered a partial defeat in the [illegible] and have been forced by the House to bring down a bill to amend the iniquitous imposition.

In the matter of the reward of $500 offered by the Odd Fellows of Victoria for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of Captain Dwyer and wife, the arbitrators have made the following award: [illegible] Murphy $85, J. McCoy, of San Juan, $50, R. McMillan $365. Mr Murphy objects to the award and threatens suit.

The Victoria Colonist of the 20th says: "For at least ten years there has been no such storm experienced in this vicinity as that of Saturday night, Sunday and yesterday. The wind on Saturday night was almost resistless. Fences, barns, sheds and trees were prostrated, and in several instances pedestrians were carried off their feet. In Lake District the fall of a barn killed a fine mule, valued at $300. At Port Townsend, W. T., several small craft were driven ashore and the spray dashed clear over the wharf houses. At Bellingham Bay the storm raged with great fury and the barometer fell very low, but no damage is reported. We fear that the wreck of some vessels near the Straits will be reported in a few days."

AN UNEXPECTED ANSWER.—The St Louis Democrat relates the following:

During the progress of the trial of the case of Widow Mathews against the [illegible] Company in the Circuit Court recently, Col. Slayback, counsel for the defendant, conceived the idea that Murphy, a witness for the plaintiff, was a suitor for the hand of the widow, and on the event of [illegible] him to the altar. Getting Murphy on the stand the lawyer endeavored to [illegible] him [illegible] but [illegible] the jury [illegible] this was the upshot of the examination:

"Murphy, are you in [illegible] with [illegible]?"

"No sir, I am not."

"Don't you expect [illegible]?"

"Such a thing might happen."

"Now [illegible] to marry her?"

"I'm afraid not."

"You are afraid you won't [illegible]. Well now don't you expect to marry her?"

"If my wife should die and the widow remain single till then, such a thing might happen."

The jurors and spectators burst into a roar of laughter and Murphy chuckled at the cunning manner in which he had drawn the lawyer on. The Colonel had nothing more to say on the matrimonial question.

OREGON.

The [illegible] in its winter garb of mud.

The quarterly meeting for the M. E. Church will be held at Lafayette on Saturday and Sunday [illegible].

There were two steamboats at McMinnville at the same time last Monday and the town was unusually lively in consequence.

McMinnville firemen will give a Grand Ball on the 22d prox. It is expected to eclipse anything of the kind ever seen in Yamhill.

A small snow built steamer running from Salem to Independence is reported to have sunk at the latter place on last Wednesday morning.

A quarterly meeting of the M. E. Church closed its session at Cornelius on last Sunday evening. Rev Mr Roberts of Portland delivered the closing discourse.

The [illegible] school at Cornelius is improving in regular attendants. Mrs Creswell of Forest Grove [illegible] teacher [illegible]. Seventy six pupils are in regular attendance.

Several large trees were blown across the railroad track between Cornelius and Portland last Saturday night. Notwithstanding the train made its usual time on Sunday morning.

The citizens of Cornelius are perfecting many projects which they aim to give life to as soon as the spring time for work is ushered in. One is the erection of a fine first class flouring mill.

Somebody attempted one one night last week to kick in the door of the house at La Grande in which Mrs Doran is domiciled. Mrs D. proved her pluck by shooting a hole through the door at the intruder.

But little work is now being done in Washington gulch, Baker county. Some sixty men will winter in the camp and vicinity, as much and perhaps more mining will be done next as during last season.

The Salem Statesman of Wednesday has the following river news: "The Alert came down last evening and went below this morning with 240 tons of freight. The Beaver also went below this morning. The Fannie Patton went up last evening and the Greer arrived from above this morning. The Fen Bell brought 1[illegible]0 tons of wheat from above last night for the Kinney mills."

A man calling himself Kelly took a horse belonging to S. A. Young of Yamhill into Polk county a few days ago for the purpose of trading it off and returning one in its place. Shortly after he left Mr Young heard that he had changed his name and concluded it wouldn't do to trust him too far, and so followed him. He was none too quick for the fellow had no intention of returning at all judging from his actions. He was arrested on a charge of larceny.

The Reporter says: "The farmers along the South Yamhill have 'chipped' together and made arrangements with a view to clearing the country of some of the wolves which seem to be multiplying quite too rapidly to insure sheep raising a safe business. Provisions are agreed to by which a bounty of $22 is paid on each scalp. Parties in that direction have been out several times recently and up to Tuesday night had succeeded in capturing four of the voracious pests."

At a meeting of Colfax Rebekah Degree Lodge No 1, I. O. O. F., of Salem, held last Tuesday evening, the following officers were installed to serve during the present term of office: C. A. Reed, N. G.; Mrs S. C. Adams, V. G.; Mrs Opi Scott, R. S.; Mrs E. E. Wheeler, Treas.; G. W. Jordan, P. S.; Mrs J. D. Jordan, R. S. to N. G.; Mrs Wm England, L. S. to N. G.; Mrs J. H. Howell, R. S. to V. G.; Mrs S. F. Church, L. S. to V. G.; Mrs E. D. Towle, Con.; H. M. Thatcher, Warden; J. G. Schwatka, O. G.; J. Cheesbrough, I. G.; [illegible] M. Parmenter, Chaplain.

The Statesman says: "Various sensational rumors concerning the Greathouse tragedy, at Silverton, have been flying, and for the last two or three days they have come to us thick and fast. Some have had it that the body had been found while others stated that different parties had been arrested and placed in durance vile with only a few hours granted them in which to make a clean confession of their complicity. We have seen two gentlemen who came from Silverton this morning (Wednesday) both of whom informed us that there is no foundation whatever for these reports and that no new discoveries have been made or new suspicions aroused. The late snow storm has retarded the search and nothing is being done at present, but as soon as the snow disappears it will be resumed and prosecuted still further."

THE TERRITORIES.

An old resident of Owyhee known as Oro Fino Smith was recently badly frozen in Utah.

The Grange on Dewamish river numbers some 20 or 30 members. Julius Horton, Esq., is W. M.

Six hundred dollars worth of furs were shipped from Port Townsend to San Francisco last week.

There were forty one marriage licenses issued by the Auditor of King county, W. T., during the year 1873.

There was a heavy fall of snow at Seattle on Friday of last week prostrating the telegraph lines both north and south.

Wells Fargo & Co shipped from Silver City, I. T., during the week ending January 10th bullion to the amount of $26,[illegible].

Bishop Morris has made arrangements to have services by some of the clergymen in his diocese at Olympia once every fortnight.

Rev. T. Crowl has given notice that two weeks from last Sunday his official connection with the Presbyterian Church at Seattle will cease.

The incidental printing bill of Mr J. [illegible] Gunn, of Olympia, late Territorial Printer, has passed the Board of Auditors, and the amount of $788 was allowed.

J. L. Durgin, of Thurston county, has sent several lots of maple seeds to New York and some to Europe. They are of the kind indigenous to this country.

The new Trustees of the Seattle and Walla Walla Railroad and Transportation Company unanimously elected Hon. A. A. Denny as President for the ensuing year.

Mr J. M. Moore writes from Peshastin creek, Yakima mines, to his family in Pendleton, stating that he has struck half ounce diggings and laid in provisions for six months. Snow 10 inches deep on the creek and weather very cold.

The Seattle Coal Company is energetically at work. Parties are there from San Francisco making arrangements to work the Cedar river mines, and in the neighborhood of that river a party of men are busy at work opening up another seam of coal.

The dentist Thomer (or Thornton), who invited the Fairview (Idaho) folks to his funeral on New Year's day and then suddenly disappeared, has been heard from. He did not commit suicide, but is on Catherine creek repairing the teeth in the farmers' [illegible].

The dead body of a Chinaman well known in Tacoma was found dead in the suburbs of that place last Tuesday. His skull was broken and suspicions were rife that he had been murdered by his countrymen for his money, of which he was known to have a considerable sum.

The Seattle Dispatch of Monday, Jan 19th, says: "The new regents of the Territorial University met in this city on Saturday last and organized the Board by the election of the following officers: Beriah Brown, President; H. A. Atkins, Secretary; J. F. Jordan, Treasurer. The next meeting will be on Wednesday, Feb 4th."

The ship John Jay has finished loading at the Tacoma sawmill and will sail for San Francisco with the first favorable wind. Her cargo consists of 152,845 feet of long lumber, 100,000 laths and 1 bale of deer skins. The [illegible] is an old ship built in the city of New York in the year 18[illegible]. Her dimensions are as follows: Length 131 feet, breadth 28 feet, depth 21 feet, tonnage [illegible]0. She was built of live oak, and is sound as a dollar.

The Seattle [illegible] [illegible] expects that a large number of men will leave the Sound shortly for the new mines in British Columbia. We understand that Capt. Dan Morrison, until lately connected with the steamer North Pacific, has chartered the Ida Anderson and will place her on the route to Stickeen river, which is the most convenient point to land at by those bound to the new diggings. Capt. Morrison is well known as a careful and competent commander and one whom it has always been a pleasure to travel with. It is rumored that Capt. Clancey will be attached to the Ida Anderson on the new route.

TERRIBLE STORM ON PUGET SOUND.

DETAILS OF THE LOSS OF THE SHIP PANTHER.

[illegible]

STEAMER NORTH PACIFIC, Jan 20, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The tugboat Goliah reached Port Townsend yesterday with the information of the loss of the ship Panther, in the Gulf of Georgia, with all on board. The Panther was bound for San Francisco with coal from Nanaimo, and was in tow of the Goliah when a heavy gale struck her last Saturday, January 18th. It was found impossible to manage her with the tugboat and as both vessels were going ashore sail was made on the ship and the tow line cast off. The Goliah succeeded in getting off shore, but the gale proved too much for the Panther, and she went ashore on the most inhospitable part of this rock bound coast.

TWENTY THREE LIVES LOST.

Next day the storm abating somewhat the steamer returned to the spot and cruised all day but did not discover any sign of the vessel nor of any of her ill fated crew. Hence there is little doubt that the Captain with his young wife and twenty one others were all drowned or dashed to pieces on the rocks.

THE BRITISH BARK [illegible]

Was caught in the same gale and put back to Esquimalt harbor, having lost her sails and some spars. During the gale her carpenter fell dead while at work. An inquest was to be held to day.

THE BARK LADY THOMPSON,

From Liverpool, met the storm at the entrance of the Straits of Fuca, and was driven back to sea, but got into port yesterday. One of her men was washed overboard on Friday, and a boat was crushed in the futile attempt to save him.

The Signal Service Bureau telegraphed a warning of this storm two days ahead and the barometer fell lower than ever known on the coast last Friday, so it seems a little more caution might have saved many lives and much property.

During the high wind the schooner Mist, and the Custom House sloop Messenger, went ashore at Port Townsend. Both vessels were got off the beach without damage. In haste,

CHIEF JUSTICE WAITE.

Finally the trouble over the Chief Justiceship is ended and M. R. Waite is the successor of Chase. He is a citizen of Ohio, the State from which his predecessor was appointed, and has a fine reputation in the profession. His confirmation by a unanimous vote of the Senate, while that body is composed in large part of men of such political relations and partisan strength as have been carried to an extent of engendering personal animosity toward all who differ from them, is more than a compliment. It is a commendation of which any man might be proud. Senators Sherman, Sumner and Thurman, the leading representatives of the three general classes of political sentiment under which the Senate may be arranged, all spoke strongly for the nomination, and those who knew the nominee best in his professional life, are warmest in his praise. This is evidence of his fitness for the position to which he has been exalted. A good lawyer may be a strong partisan in politics we presume, though we are at present unable to call to mind an instance in the history of the country of a strong partisan politician who was universally regarded as a great jurist. The description of Chief Justice Waite's political character given in the dispatches at the time of his nomination is just what the people of these United States might well desire to have true of all the members of the judiciary—a man of "strong convictions but slight partisan predilections." That is exactly the style of man for Chief Justice. It is exactly the style of man for all high judicial positions, State and Federal. A lawyer of real ability and learning can not be a man without decided views on all political questions, for political questions are always so closely connected with legal ones, that the study of the one necessarily involves the consideration of the other. On the other hand, no lawyer who is a partisan in the common acceptation of that term—in favor of sustaining the party when it is in the wrong as well as when it is in the right—possesses that degree of personal, individual honesty and conscientiousness without which no man is qualified for the exercise of important judicial functions. The want of strong convictions can scarcely consist with a thorough and intelligent comprehension of the principles of jurisprudence; the willingness to surrender one's conscience upon political questions into the keeping of political managers and party conventions is utterly incompatible with personal integrity.

This appointment, praised by the leading men of all parties, and approved by the unanimous vote of the Senate, certainly promises to be satisfactory to the masses and fortunate for the whole country. Let us hope the future will not disappoint the high expectations of the present.

THE RIVER AGAIN.

The subject of improving the Wallamet river is one in which the people of the valley feel a lively interest. The letter we published a few days since from a Benton county farmer, called out that which appeared yesterday from Mr. James Finlayson. And now we have a private letter from Polk, in which it is stated that the people of that county are more deeply interested in this question than upon any other now discussed. The people of that rich and beautiful county are for a large part of the year practically deprived of all means of transporting their produce to the point of shipment. This is the case with all the west side—except Washington and a part of Yamhill—while those on the east side, through which the railway passes, are compelled to choose between paying the high rates exacted by the railway company, or wait, along with the west side people, for the fall rains to bring the river to a navigable stage. This is not only a great inconvenience, but a positive damage to all parties so situated. They are shut out from the market for months, and can never count with any reasonable degree of certainty upon the time when the river will rise. One fall it is at practicable boating stage early in October, or even earlier, than that. The next it may be late in December before a boat can ascend to any point within reach of the wheat farms. Thus are these farmers deprived of all opportunity to take advantage of the fluctuations of the market as they might do if they could lay down their produce in Portland on short notice, and at all seasons of the year; thus are they compelled to hold their grain when they might, with sufficient means of transportation, realize for it and have the money at interest; thus are they unable to contract for delivery at Portland at any definite time so as to secure the benefit of the cheapest rates of transportation hence to the foreign market. A merchant who charters a ship to sail from here at a time definitely specified must be sure of having his cargo ready to meet the ship in time to meet this condition or else he must get the cargo at such prices as will allow of his paying demurrage for whatever period the vessel may be delayed. But those who are forced to depend on the river transportation cannot be sure of having the freight here at the specified time. So they must secure themselves in the other way suggested or decline to purchase from the farmers so situated. In either case, the burden falls on the farmer.

The only way to remedy this is to improve the river. This is plain. And there is no reason why it should not be done. There is water enough flowing in the river at any time to float a good boat to Eugene. And the bars and shoals are not of a kind that offer great difficulties to engineering skill. The work cannot be completed in one year, but it can be pushed so far as to be worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to the Valley. It ought to be urged. Those who are sent to represent the State in Congress ought to be urging it on the attention of the government, and if they fail to do so the people should not be backward about urging it. This matter alone is of greater moment to the State of Oregon than any project one can possibly be. It is a matter that touches directly the prosperity of that class upon whom all prosperity of all classes depends, and it should be kept before the government, side by side with other great public improvements till efficient action is secured.

MANUFACTURES IN THE SOUTH.

The New York [illegible] is now publishing a series of letters on the resources of the Southern States which contains much valuable information and interesting reading matter. The letters on Georgia Manufactures are full of new and almost surprising facts. For instance, the cotton factories of Columbus and suburbs number four, and they are said to be models in all particulars. The Columbus Manufacturing Company's first mill was burned down during the war. On the same site they have recently erected a new one which has a capacity of 4,000 spindles and 16 looms, employs 125 hands, and works up four and one-third bales of cotton per day. The Eagle and Phoenix runs 20,000 spindles and 320 looms in its cotton department and 2,000 spindles and 80 looms in its woolen department. It employs 800 operatives, chiefly white women and children, and consumes 17 bales of cotton per day. The Muscogee is a smaller mill, worked by white hands, running 5,000 spindles and 80 looms. The first-named mill has a capital stock of $263,000 all paid up. A Massachusetts superintendent employed at one of the mills declares that labor in Columbus with all its drawbacks is 25 per cent cheaper than at the North. The influences of the climate add very much to the advantages as the operatives can work comfortably all the year round. "Rome, one hundred and thirty miles from Columbus," says the correspondent, "now sells iron to the North at the rate of $14,000 per day, and there is a large and increasing manufacture in her foundries of car wheels, axles and other iron work."

There could be no more gratifying issue of the severe trials which have marred the history of the South during the past thirteen years, than that prosperous condition foreshadowed by these statistics. In Georgia and Alabama the changes wrought by the cultivation of this spirit of enterprise is really startling. New industries are springing into life in every community. The buried talents are being dug up. The liberal policy which prevails in Georgia is best shown by the act of the Legislature of that State exempting capital invested in manufactories of cotton and woolen fabrics from all taxation—State, county and municipal—for ten years. With such aids as this, when the Southerner has once found out that he can live beside his mudsill brother in peace, Louisiana squabbles will be impossible, and Pinchbacks and Warmoths will find their occupation gone.

AN ELOQUENT MUMMY.

Eastern papers containing reports of Alexander H. Stephens' speech on the Supplementary Civil Rights Bill in the House, January 5th, are before us. The speech was in all respects a reproduction of ancient Democratic literature, except in those paragraphs containing casual allusions to the war and the social and political changes wrought thereby. The oration and the orator were both of the olden time. Mr. Stephens was dressed in exceedingly black clothes. "He wore his customary skull cap of purple velvet," says one correspondent, "beneath which there fell a broad fringe of silver hair." Another correspondent goes into ecstasies over the attenuated form of the Georgia statesman, saying: "His thin body was almost transparent. Thank God for this mercy in giving us an occasional glimpse of a naked human soul!" He stood in the rear of the Democratic side of the House, leaning most of the time upon a pile of law books which the attendants had placed for that purpose on the desk before him. At first the members thronged about him gazing with curious eyes on the singular scene, but the novelty soon wore off, that which seemed a phantasm rapidly took shape as a fine old Democratic gentleman, one of the real old stock, whose discourse was but a series of reminiscences interspersed with occasional outbursts of fiery eloquence, and in fifteen minutes most of the members were sitting at their desks writing letters or dozing quietly in committee rooms.

The general tenor of the speech may be inferred from this brief peroration:

"If you, who call yourselves Republicans, shall in obedience to what you consider a party behest, pass this bill in the vain expectation that the Republican principles of the old and true Jeffersonian school are dead, be assured that you are indulging in a fatal illusion. The old Jeffersonian Democratic Republican principles are not dead and will never die so long as a true devotee of liberty lives. They may be buried for a period, as Magna Charta was trodden under foot in England for more than half a century, but these principles will come up with renewed energy as did those of Magna Charta, and that too at no distant day. Old Jeffersonian Democratic Republican principles dead! Indeed! when the tides of ocean cease to ebb and flow, when the winds of heaven are hushed into perpetual silence, when the clouds no longer thunder, when earth's electric bolts are no longer felt or heard, when the internal fires go out, then, and not before, will these principles cease to live; then and not before will these principles cease to animate and move the liberty loving masses of this country."

Mr. Rainey, the colored member from South Carolina, who replied to the Democratic patriarch, is said to be a speaker of fluent, agreeable address. He is thus spoken of by the N. Y. Commercial Advertiser: "It is not to be disguised that this black man's speech was able and eloquent, and the representatives of the dead patriarchate will be careful how they handle the successor of Calhoun, who has as many kinks in his hair as the great Nullifier had in his logic."

The St. Louis Democrat severely condemns the assaults of Herndon and his sympathizers on Abraham Lincoln's orthodoxy and deems it a depravity of criticism to endeavor to spy out foibles or defects in a good man's character. It eloquently says: "The young of the nation need ideals; let them have them to teach them to aspire and hope and toil and be virtuous. [illegible] that we can well spare their memories. It is no tribute to justice when we [illegible] altar one of those the world has learned to love or revere. [illegible] made [illegible] or never discovered [illegible]—it is a craven trait that will [illegible] only to dethrone the people's hearthstone ideal and deride what was in the popular conception beautiful and noble. A generation trained up in youth to sneer at the nation's heroes and the world's saints will grow to be a generation of atheists—worse than that, they will be untied to every law of the good and true. Of the lamented President it says: If the great man who bore our nation in his heart and its cares on his shoulders was not a Christian in theory he certainly was indeed and in fact. If the Emancipation Proclamation does not entitle him to the sacraments of the Church, then few indeed can be saved."

Persons having access to the last [illegible] journals [illegible] can get a more comprehensive view of the extent to which [illegible] to the appointment of [illegible] as Chief Justice [illegible] the last. What [illegible] compared with the [illegible] besides general objection [illegible] that were urged [illegible] the President requesting the withdrawal of his name [illegible] within the bounds [illegible] the amount of matter that [illegible] against him. Also that he should have [illegible] an investigation sufficient to show that the [illegible] what he called them [illegible] calumny. That he should have retired just when he did and just as he did, if the charges were indeed calumnies, is remarkable [illegible] that he should have written so remarkable a letter.

The Illinois papers are discussing projects for the erection of a monument over the grave of the late Senator Yates in Jacksonville. The Illinois State Journal speaks favorably of a plan suggested by the citizens of Jacksonville, and the Quincy Whig utters the following handsome sentiment:

There are several hundred thousand of the soldiers of the late war scattered throughout the State who would regard it as a privilege to be permitted thus to participate in honoring the memory of Illinois' patriotic War Governor. Now that Richard Yates reposes in his last resting place, the nation forgets the errors which marred the symmetry of an otherwise noble and manly life and remembers only the grander genial qualities of the eloquent and patriotic statesman and the glorious services which he performed for the State and nation in the darkest hour of both. There could be nothing more appropriate than that these services should be commemorated in some enduring manner, and that the whole people of the State should unite in the work.

It appears to be quite probable that Senator Pomeroy will escape scott free even without the loss of his bail bonds. Kansas papers have already commenced discussing the wisdom of dropping the matter and granting him that oblivion which is always so much sought after by detected scoundrels. The Leavenworth Call pleads for mercy and concludes an elaborate plea with this dubious sentiment: "Pomeroy is not to be feared; he is to be pitied. Let him go." Several other journals take the same view. It is understood that Pomeroy endorses this view, but (as the telegraph would say) the report lacks confirmation.

At the request of a prominent physician of the South, who was cordially endorsed by the Surgeon General, the House of Representatives on the 6th inst. adopted a resolution instructing the Secretary of War to detail a sufficient number of army medical officers to visit the places in the South where the cholera prevailed last year, before January 1st, 1875, upon the causes and the origin of the disease. It is expected that the investigation will be thorough and that it will secure a valuable contribution to sanitary science.

The fervor of the Forty Third Congress in the back-pay business is mildly illustrated in this extract from the record of January 8th: "Two members introduced salary repeal bills. This increases the number of such bills now before Congress to thirty five. Thirty five Congressmen and Senators who when their heads are silvered and their forms bent with age can each point with beaming countenance and humid eyes to the bill for the repeal of the salary grab! We shudder when we think of the remorse that awaits the 738 others."

A CARD.

HALL WILLAMETTE ENGINE CO. No. 1, Portland, January [illegible] 1874.

Our attention has been called to the following item [illegible] evening [illegible] published in this [illegible]

VERY [illegible]—It was bruited about the streets for a couple of days that Willamette Engine Company No. 1 was about to give a very recherché party and every one was on tiptoe awaiting the result. Last night the [illegible] a day [illegible] home [illegible] dance [illegible] shades of Euterpe how select we are getting to be!

Commenting [illegible] we deem it but right to give [illegible] for the above unmanly and uncalled for attack. There could be but one person connected with the establishment capable of [illegible] author of the above [illegible] CURRY [illegible] cause. This malignity [illegible] the fact that on the [illegible] of our Christmas Eve Ball which [illegible] grand success we saw fit not to send an invitation to the above named individual, for reasons well known to all who have unfortunately come in social contact with him. On failing to receive an invitation he swore dire vengeance, and we suppose the extract above is the first installment from his stock of spleen. We know of no one who was on tiptoe except it was the self important individual named who we suppose was anxiously awaiting an invitation. That the party in question was select is fully evidenced by the fact that John J. Curry did not affect it with his presence nor any of his calibre. Our company has a well established reputation for making successes of everything they undertake, whether it be in the way of duty or in entertaining their friends, and we have no fear of that reputation being in any manner damaged by such silly effusions as that above quoted. We are sorry to find it necessary to state these facts to the public, but there may be some comparatively strangers in the city who do not fully understand the situation and who might be misled by these unwarrantable attacks. Our citizens generally fully understand the character of our company and the character of the man who assails it, and to them further explanations are unnecessary.

WILLAMETTE ENGINE COMPANY.

FRIDAY MORNING JANUARY .. 1874

CITY.

Democratic State Central Committee.—Pursuant to a call of the Chairman, the members of the Democratic State Central Committee met in this city yesterday to make arrangements for holding the next State Convention W L White Chairman of the Committee presided and Mart V Brown was chosen Secretary. It was determined by the Committee that every 100 Democratic votes cast in 1872 was entitled to one delegate in the State Convention and also for every fraction over 60 votes one delegate. Each county in the State was entitled to one delegate whether 100 votes were cast or not. The Committee decided that the next State Convention would be held in Albany on the 18th of March. The Committee also recommended that the County Conventions be held on the [illegible] of March to choose delegates to attend the State Convention. The time and manner of holding primaries was left to the Central Committees of the respective counties.

The Alden Besse.—A gentleman received a few days since a letter written by Captain A Noyes of the ship Alden Besse under date of Nov 10th. The writer was still at Hongkong with his vessel. He says "I am bound to Manila to load for San Francisco. I am in hopes that I shall come to Portland or the Sound to load with grain or lumber. We had the most pleasant passage across this time that I have ever made in my life, carrying full sail all the way. The wind was fair all the time but rather light to make a short passage. I expect to get a fine freight back, equally as good if not better than the one I had this way. I am in strong hopes of reaching San Francisco by the 1st of March."

Ladies Social Union.—In pursuance of a call previously made a number of ladies members of the church and congregation of the Taylor street M E Church met in the vestry of the church and organized a Ladies Social Union and elected the following officers: President Mrs. A C Gibbs, Vice-President Mrs. G W Myers, Secretary Mrs J K Gill, Treasurer Mrs Charles Myers. Several committees were appointed and the meeting adjourned to meet at Mrs A C Gibbs residence on the first Wednesday afternoon in February at 1 o clock.

Copper Coins.—Mr J H Fisk, assayer of this city has among other old and rare coins a collection of copper cents embracing one of each series or year since the first issue of coins of that kind with only three exceptions. It would be difficult to find just such another collection of coins in the country but we presume that some of more intrinsic value might be found.

Weather Report.—From the records of the U S Signal Station of Observation Portland, Oregon January 22, 1874

	7 A M	2 P M	9 P M
Thermometer	36	40	36
Wind direction	Calm	S	W
velocity miles pr hour		1
Weather	Cloudy	Fair	Cloudy

Bankruptcy Matters.—There will be a final meeting of the creditors of R Pittock at the office of the Register in Bankruptcy on the 29th inst at 10 o clock. On the 30th inst at 1 o clock P M the first meeting of creditors in the estate of C B Comstock & Co for election of assignee, will be held at the office of the Register in Bankruptcy.

Zinc Mines.—Zinc ore in considerable quantities was recently discovered in Lane county, near what is known as Cow Creek. A small quantity of the ore was dug out and forwarded to this city. Mr Fisk made an assay of the metal and found it to contain a large per cent of zinc.

New Term.—The present term of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary will close on the 30th inst. The next term will begin on Monday, Feb 2d.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

At a meeting held last evening by the Turn Verein Society the intention of giving a Masken Kraenzchen on the 26th inst was abandoned and it was determined to give a grand masquerade ball at Ankeny s Hall on the 16th of February. The programme will be timely published.

A special meeting of the Washington Guard was held last evening to make arrangements for giving a grand ball on the 22d February, Washington s Birthday. It was determined by the company to have a street parade during the day, and wind up with a grand ball in the evening. As the 22d comes on Sunday the parade and ball will be postponed until Monday the 23d. A committee was appointed to make arrangements.

A social entertainment was given last evening at Good Templar Hall, by Baker and Canby Posts No 1, G A R. There was a large and select assemblage of ladies and gentlemen present. It was a very pleasant social occasion, like all the parties given under the auspices of the order. Good music was provided and everything was lovely. Strict decorum was observed by all, while unrestrained sociability prevailed. We unhesitatingly set it down as a social success besides being one of the most enjoyable parties of the season.

The first "Ladies' Night" at the Progress Club Rooms may be put down as a perfect success. The fair sex were present in numbers and joined with the gentlemen in playing social games, conversation and dancing. During the latter portion of the evening several volunteered to sing, play and recite which afforded those present a great deal of pleasure. We must be brief, and, consequently condense our mention of the first "Ladies Night" to a few words. The idea of devoting one night each week (Thursday) to the ladies has as before stated, proven a success, and the ladies will grace the rooms en masse hereafter on the evenings designated, we feel assured judging from the number present last evening.

PORTLAND CITY DIRECTORY

The twelfth volume of the above work published by S J McCormick Esq and copyrighted by McCormick & Bushwiler, has been placed on our table. A somewhat hurried examination of the work convinces us that it is the most complete of any which has ever been brought out in our city. The copious extracts which we make from it elsewhere indicate the great variety of statistical information which may be derived from the book. It contains about 320 pages, embracing the annual review of local improvements commercial statistics list of the various societies and organizations in the city, lists of officers, State and city, location of cisterns and hydrants, general directory of names, residences and occupations of the inhabitants of the city and East Portland etc etc. A new feature of the work contains a fine lithograph map of the city showing the burnt district and photographs of Hons Hugh D O Bryant, A C Bonnell, Josiah Failing, W S Ladd and G W Vaughn, Portland s first five Mayors, besides other matters not heretofore found in any work of the kind published here. The directory of names is very complete.

The mechanical part of the work [illegible] the job office of A G Walling, is of the very highest order of the art, and reflects great credit upon Mr W [illegible] efficient workmen being neat and tasteful in all respects. We predict a large demand for the work by the citizens of Portland who will find it [illegible] of information and ready reference.

W [illegible] TO [illegible] THE [illegible] $8,000 IN CURRENCY AT KALAMA

Mr Dudley Evans Agent in this city for Wells Fargo & Co received late on Wednesday evening a telegram from N E Pierce Mail Agent and Messenger for W F & Co on the line between Kalama and Tacoma announcing the unwelcome intelligence that a box containing a large amount of currency had been relieved of $8,000 in currency. The box containing the money was sent from Portland on the morning of the 21st. It was placed on board the steamer Ixon Tong and conveyed to Kalama. At that point the box was taken charge of temporarily by the Agent Mr Eagan. Mr Pierce who acts in the dual capacity of Express Messenger and Mail Agent is the only Agent on the road. He leaves Tacoma early in the morning, reaches Kalama about noon, steps immediately on board the train which is waiting at the depot and returns at once. While the train bound for the north was waiting at Kalama for the other train to arrive the box together with numerous other articles was placed on board the train. As soon as the train from Tacoma arrived Mr Pierce stepped on board and [illegible] towards Tacoma. After the train was in motion a short time Mr Pierce opened the box and on examining the contents discovered to his dismay that a package of greenbacks containing $8,000 was gone. At the first station beyond where the robbery was discovered Mr Pierce telegraphed the facts to this city. Like all other robberies this one is involved in a little mystery. The most reasonable way to account for the robbery is that the caboose was entered and the box opened while the train was waiting at Kalama. As we understand, the box was placed on board by Mr Eagan some little time before the arrival of the train from the north. It was probably left unguarded for a few minutes and the thief who no doubt knew all about the contents, slipped in, opened the box, abstracted the package and walked away undiscovered. There seems to have been no other opportunity afforded to rifle the contents as the box was under the constant surveillance of Mr Pierce from the time it came into his possession until he discovered the loss. The thief was certainly a bold, daring fellow as the robbery was committed about 12 o clock, when the cars were waiting at the depot in broad daylight and almost in the presence of a number of passengers who were standing about, walking up and down or seated in the cars. Appearances would indicate that the thief knew perfectly well what he was about and had carefully counted all the chances. The box was unlocked the package taken out and closed again. There was a large sum of money in the box—in gold and silver—but it was untouched. The thief knew that to get away with the coin would be difficult if not impossible so he hastily slipped the package of currency in his pocket and walked away. A broken key was also found by Mr Pierce in the car soon after he discovered the robbery. The box was secured by a strong padlock and could not be opened by any ordinary key. Nothing could open the lock except an exact duplicate key. This the thief evidently possessed or he would have been compelled to break open the box. Not the slightest clue has as yet been discovered of the robbers. The money lost belonged to the Government. Major Rucker Paymaster of the Department of the Columbia was on his way to Victoria at the time intending to take passage on the California for Sitka, whither he was going to pay off the troops. Mr Page superintendent of Wells, Fargo & Co s routes started early yesterday morning for the scene, to assist in tracing out the inexplicable affair and bring the perpetrators to punishment. Immediately on receipt of the news, Mr. Evans telegraphed back offering a reward of $2,000 for the recovery of the lost money. As every possible effort is being put forth to discover the thief we shall probably be able in a few days to chronicle some interesting developments.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

The first effort towards organizing a fire company in Portland was made in the spring of 1851, but no definite action was taken in the matter until the 6th of May following at which time a public meeting was convened and an engine company organized under the appellation of Pioneer Engine Co No 1. This company existed several months but it subsequently died from inaction.

In May 1853 an ordinance was passed by the City Council authorizing the formation of a hook and ladder company within the corporate limits and under this authority a meeting of citizens was convened on the 28th of May 1853 at which resolutions were adopted which virtually laid the foundation of the Fire Department of Portland.

On the evening of July 29 1853 Vigilance Hook and Ladder Company No 1 was formed and officers elected. At a subsequent meeting held on the first of the following month the constitution and by laws were adopted and since this event the Company has rendered valuable service in the department.

Willamette Engine Company No 1 was organized on the 3d of August, 1853 and was admitted into the Department July 7 1854. The first machine used by this Company was a small hand engine, the use of which was gratuitously tendered by Geo W Vaughn until finally in 1855 an ordinance was passed authorizing the purchase of an engine for the use of the city. One of Smith s New York machines was accordingly ordered and arrived here in 1856. This machine was kept in service by the Willamettes but it is now superceded by the new and beautiful Amoskeag steamer.

Multnomah Engine Company No 2 was organized in August, 1856 and was admitted into the Department November 25th of that year. Having no engine belonging to the city the Company were indebted to Josiah Failing for the use of a small engine he was in possession of. This engine was kept in service until November 1857 at which time the Company received their Hunneman machine.

These three Companies comprised the Department up to June 18 1859 at which time Columbian Engine Company No 3 was organized. The want of an engine in the southern portion of the city led to the organization of a company in that vicinity which was effected in 1862, and on the 17th of October Protection Engine Company No 4 sprang into existence being admitted into the Department on the 12th of November following.

The city continuing to extend its limits it became necessary to increase the strength of the Fire Department accordingly in January 1873 a Company was organized under the title of Tiger Engine Co No 5 which is located in the southwestern portion of Portland and has in service the engine originally used by Engine Co No 1 being the first machine owned by the city.

Rev W B Kountz pastor of Watsburg, [illegible] W B Walla Walla [illegible] revival at the Independent [illegible] The church has been greatly revived and twelve [illegible] were among the result.

We learn that a hopeful revival is in progress at Lafayette under the labors of Rev E A Wood assisted by Rev J Spencer and others. On this account the quarterly meetings for that circuit will be held [illegible] next Saturday and Sabbath at Lafayette.

Mrs J J Church the very efficient and popular teacher of the Primary Department of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary met with a very serious accident two weeks ago by which her arm being caught in a falling gate was badly crushed and injured. She is still confined to her room though improving.

Rev B Smith pastor of the A M E Zion Church desires us to acknowledge his indebtedness to the kind friends of his charge for the very generous expression given on his behalf at the literary and sacred entertainment given by the Sabbath School and Church on Thursday evening last. The receipts were beyond all his expectations.

Quarterly meeting in the Puget Sound district was held at the Black River Schoolhouse Tumwater circuit on Sabbath last. The Presiding Elder says: Rev H Patterson the pastor made his quarterly report. He had received seven persons into the Church made sixty five pastoral visits had four Sunday schools in successful operation; and was enjoying some prosperity in every part of the work.

Protection in a Sleeping Car.—In March, 187[illegible] A Bloom of Mount Vernon Ind while a passenger occupying a berth in a Pullman palace car on the Memphis division of the Louisville and Nashville and Great Southern Railroad between Humboldt and this city had $1,155 stolen from him. The money was in his vest which was taken from under his head the conductor and porter of the sleeping car being asleep at the time of the larceny. Yesterday Mr Bloom, through his attorneys Messrs Horrigan & Walker, had an attachment issued by the First Circuit Court upon the Pullman Palace Car Company and will file this morning a declaration setting forth what has been stated above. The question is one of much interest and will doubtless be warmly argued on both sides. The plaintiff claims that he entered the car with the belief that his property would be secure from unlawful seizure, and for the purpose of enjoying sleep in consideration of which he paid the sum of $2 to the sleeping-car conductor.—Memphis Appeal Jan 6th

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.

Obstruction of nasal passages, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, acrid or thick and tenacious mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid, offensive etc. In others a dryness, weak or inflamed eyes, ringing in ears, deafness, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired smell and taste etc. Few only of above symptoms likely to be present in any case at one time.

To cure—take Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery earnestly to correct the blood and system which are always at fault; also to act specifically as it does upon the diseased glands and lining membrane of the nose and its communicating chambers. The more I see of this odious disease the more positive is my belief that if we would make treatment perfectly successful in curing it we must use constitutional treatment to act through the blood as well as a soothing and healing local application. Dr Sage's Catarrh Remedy when used warm and applied with Dr Pierce's Nasal Douche effects cures upon common sense, rational and scientific principles by its mild, soothing and healing properties to which the disease gradually yields when the system has been put in perfect order by the use of the Golden Medical Discovery. This is the only perfectly safe, scientific and successful mode of acting upon and healing it.

So successful has the above course of treatment proven that the proprietor offers $500 reward for a case he can not cure. All the means sold by Druggists. R V Pierce M D Proprietor Buffalo N Y.

On the death of one of England s most eminent physicians all his effects were sold by auction and among other things was a sealed packet marked "Advice to Physicians" which brought a great price. The purchaser on opening the packet read as follows: "Keep the head cool, the bowels open and the feet warm." If physic is necessary use Parsons Purgative Pills—they are the most scientifically prepared pill that has appeared in the last hundred years.

A Reanimated System.

Nervous debilitated and desponding, the sufferer from indigestion and biliousness deserves the kindly sympathy of every man and woman whom heaven has blessed with a vigorous stomach and a regular flow of healthy bile. While in this forlorn condition let him commence a course of that supreme restorative Hostetter s Stomach Bitters. At the end of four or five weeks ask him how he feels and regard him attentively. You will see a new man you will hear a new voice. Health and vigor will have returned to his frame, his words will be cheerful in purport and in tone, his eye will be clear and its expression untroubled and he will tell you that he is free from pain, has a good appetite, sleeps soundly, and that his habit of body is natural and regular. We have seen this wonderful change effected in hundreds of instances by a faithful persevering use of this incomparable medicated stimulant which is among tonic remedies what Mount Washington is among the surrounding acclivities, it overtops them all.

LOUIS II OF BAVARIA

DESCRIPTION OF HIS GORGEOUS APARTMENTS AND HIS QUEER HABITS

Perhaps the most extraordinary mortal living at the present time is His Majesty King Louis II of Bavaria. Let us see, once, first how he lives. In the castle at Munich four apartments are devoted to his exclusive use. The first one is for the adjutants of His Majesty and leads to the reception room, which is open to a few of the King's favorites only. The large walls of this room are hung with scarlet silk damask agreeably relieved by exquisite gold embroidery. Heavy gold cornices separate them from the ceiling, and a series of regular gold columns on the damask contribute also to throw upon the walls. The frescoed ceiling is embellished by half historical and half allegorical illustrations from the times of Louis XIV, who is the political and social ideal of this modern young King, and whose taste in favor of gold color, rich colors and delicate carvings, is reflected in every corner of the castle. Adjoining the reception room is the King's working apartment. This room is embellished by exquisitely wrought panels in gypsum, while the walls are adorned with three great paintings by modern Munich artists. The most interesting article in this room is the King's writing desk. Originally it was covered all over with a thick setting of gold; at a late date this gold was covered with a layer of black Chinese lacquer on which the designs of figures and ornaments were then cut out, so as to produce them in golden arabesques. The desk is covered by a series of each one representing a distinct school: one the Italian, another the Spanish, another the French, &c, &c. The writing stand is an imitation of the famous swan of Lohengrin, drawing the boat, the swan being of silver, the boat of gold, and the oars also of gold. This, of course, suggests Wagner, whose marble bust, therefore, appears on the top of the writing desk.

A GLOW OF SPLENDOR

Next to the working room is the King's sleeping apartment, with a bed of surprising splendor. Of course it is raised, in German fashion, considerably above the floor; several steps, therefore, lead into the bed, which is surmounted by a vast

GOLD-EMBROIDERED CANOPY.

The bed itself is covered by a heavy gold embroidered coverlet, said to have cost about $[illegible]000, and the chief figure on which is again the swan of Richard Wagner's Lohengrin. At each side of the bed is a washstand. The one which is intended for use is filled with the most costly perfumes, cosmetics, soaps, &c, that can be procured. The other one, which is intended merely to fill up the symmetry of the furniture, is covered with lovely little works of marble, silver, alabaster, &c, each piece a gem of art. From this sleeping room a door opens into a winter garden, one of the

and gardening arts. It has been arranged so as to represent the whole earth, with all its tropical distinctions, peculiarities of landscape character, and of vegetation, and art and science have been enlisted to do their utmost to make the optical deception complete. Every step you take opens a new view, a new piece of scenery. Here you see the grand mountains of the Alps covered with snow; there in the valley of one of them a miniature lake with swans moving along in their graceful way. Swans, indeed, appear everywhere, just as you meet everywhere some reminiscence of Wagner. The little boat on the shore of the lake has also the form of a swan. After the whole Alpine scenery has been taken in by your eye, you advance another few steps, and the bursts in upon you. Forests of wonderful trees appear, filled with the brilliantly-hued birds of the Indies, while in the distance arises solemnly the majestic Himalaya, vanishing in the darkness of the clouds. This is said to be a perfect wonder of perspective painting. You pass on a little and you enter the darkness of a primeval forest, with its gigantic trees of a thousand years' growth. Suddenly the roar of a waterfall startles your ear. You advance and behold a broad stream or water tumbling from one precipice to another, until far down below it changes into a mere little spring in whose quiet waters little gold fish enjoy their sunny existence. It is a fairy place, a scene from the Arabian Nights, and the marvel is how human ingenuity could work it out on so small a piece of ground.

So much for the King's dwelling place, now for

HIS PRIVATE LIFE.

He rarely quits his castle, but locks himself up as persistently as if he hated the whole human race except Richard Wagner. He sees neither his mother nor his brother, nor his other relatives, nor his ministers, nor the men of science or art, whom he honors. He never invites any one to dine with him, and even the priest who calls every Sunday at the castle, to read mass, is often kept waiting for hours and then sent home. The Bavarians, who are a jolly people, do not like this at all, but nevertheless, they cannot help having a sort of affection for the eccentric young man, who cares only about one subject on earth, and that is the restoration of medieval art, the art of the age of Louis XIV, and of the age of the Minnesinger, of Lohengrin, Tannhaeuser, and, still further back, of the age of the Nibelungen.

IN FORMER TIMES

Louis excused his seclusion by pleading business. He has bravely gotten over that stage now, and whenever a cabinet council is to be held, or some other official function to be performed, he details his brother Leopold to represent him, and meanwhile employs his own valuable time in unraveling some new puzzling musical intricacies of Wagner or Liszt, or poring over some memoirs of the time of Louis XIV, to see if he cannot discover some new matter of ceremony or art, which to introduce to the present degenerate age. For King Louis II, of Bavaria has of late allowed the bizarre taste of the Grand Monarch to occupy his mind, even somewhat to the exclusion of Wagner's music, though he deplorably lacks Louis XIV's love of popularity. Thus he recently caused to be performed in his Royal Theater

A VERY PRETTY BALLET,

"A Ball at the Court of Louis XIV," but instead of throwing the doors open to all Muencheners, our bizarre friend ordered the performance to begin at midnight, and was himself the sole auditor in the theater. This was very discouraging to the performers, and when the same thing had occurred a few evenings the performers revolted. The young King hates scenes, and accordingly acceded to their urgings, and Munich rejoiced. But alas! only for a short while. For though the ballet is a good one of its kind, it is not sensational enough for modern ears, and particularly not for people brought up to feast on the richly flavored music of Wagner. So they went to sleep over the first public performance and thought it would be the last. But the King's mind had not so decided. He had the piece repeated different times, and as he is very capricious, it often happened that a very attractive piece would be announced by the manager of the theater for the evening, and when the evening came and the house was crowded with expectant Muencheners the announcement was made that by command of his Majesty, the ballet, "A Ball at the Court of Louis XIV," had been substituted. Indeed, the despotic way in which he controls the theater sorely taxes the patience of the Muencheners, and of every one connected with the theater.

AS FOR THE POLITICAL NOTIONS

of the King, they may be said to be embraced in one word: anti Hohenzollern. Much as he himself has done to assist in the formation of the present German Empire, he has a cordial aversion to it at present, to the Emperor William and everybody connected with it. Nevertheless he does not allow those feelings to show themselves unpleasantly, or to dictate an injudicious line of policy. Though a Catholic and strongly subjected to Catholic influences, he has also, in religious matters, kept within judicious limits, and only a few weeks ago wrote a warm letter to Dr Doellinger—who is probably more hated by the Romish See than any other of the Old Catholic party—congratulating him on his fiftieth jubilaeum.

A man named James Miller, fifty years of age, got lost between Fairview and his home near Empire mine, on the summit of the mountain, and was frozen to death. He started home after dark on Saturday night and was found dead next morning. The night was stormy and cold and it is thought he became exhausted and perished in the snow.

Grain in Store and Afloat.

Chicago [illegible] at the commencement [illegible] the [illegible] day the [illegible] embracing 1 161 800 bushels of wheat [illegible] bushels of corn [illegible] bushels of oats [illegible] bushels of rye and [illegible] bushels of barley against [illegible] bushels one week ago and [illegible] bushels at this period last year.

New York warehouses contained [illegible] bushels of wheat [illegible] bushels of corn [illegible] bushels of oats [illegible] bushels of rye [illegible] bushels of [illegible] of malt.

The [illegible] supply [illegible] United States and Canada December 20th was: Wheat [illegible] bushels, corn [illegible] bushels, oats [illegible] bushels, barley [illegible] bushels, rye [illegible] bushels.

The exports of breadstuffs and provisions from the ports of Portland Me, Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore for the week ending January [illegible] were: Flour [illegible] barrels, wheat [illegible] bushels, corn [illegible] bushels, pork [illegible] barrels, bacon [illegible] pounds, lard [illegible] pounds.

The exports of flour, grain and provisions from Chicago for the week ending January 8th sum up 60,948 barrels of flour, 9[illegible] bushels of grain, [illegible] barrels of beef, 2 [illegible] barrels of pork, 7,496 [illegible] pounds of cut meats and [illegible] pounds of lard.

The aggregate grain receipts at the Western lake ports during the year 187[illegible] were 173 [illegible] bushels, including flour reduced to bushels, which shows a large and steady increase over former years. In the year 1870 the receipts at the same ports amounted to 111,281,749 bushels, in 1871, 1[illegible] bushels and in 1872 [illegible] bushels. Sixty six per cent of these receipts passed to the seaboard via Buffalo.

Trade of San Francisco.

The Commercial Herald, in its annual trade review, contains a mass of carefully prepared statistics, from which we condense the following: The Grain Bag trade for 1873 stands thus:

	BAGS
Stock on hand January 1 187[illegible]	1 000 000
Imports per sailing vessels	9 [illegible] 000
Imports per steamers	1 000 000
Imports by rail	200 000
Receipts from Oakland Jute Manufg Co	[illegible] 000
Total supply	1[illegible] [illegible]000
Consumption season of 1873	10 [illegible] 000
Sales and shipments to Oregon	1 [illegible] 000
Surplus stock carried over	1 [illegible] 000
	1[illegible] 000

The quantity of Grain Sacks sold and manufactured in 187[illegible] by the California Jute Manufacturing Company at Oakland was upward of 2,000,000 and the ensuing season will probably give them a showing of over [illegible]000 Bags, not including Wool Sacks, Potato Sacks, etc.

The receipts of coal for 187[illegible] are distributed as follows:

	Tons		Tons
Mt Diablo	171 741	Vancouver Island	[illegible]
Coos Bay	38 06[illegible]	Chile	400
Bellingham Bay	21 2[illegible]	Australia	9[illegible]
English	52,616	Seattle	1[illegible]
Cumberland	[illegible]	Rocky Mountain	1 [illegible]
Anthracite	18 2[illegible]	Japan	[illegible]

The imports of sugar for 1873 were [illegible] lbs, against [illegible] lbs in 1872.

The imports of coffee in 1873 amounted to 12[illegible] lbs, received from the following sources: Central American [illegible] lbs 11 0[illegible] 900, Hawaiian, 2[illegible] 500; Java, 4[illegible] 900; Manila, 1[illegible]; Mocha [illegible] 000; Tahiti 2,100.

In 1873 we imported [illegible] lbs China and 2[illegible] lbs Japan tea against 2[illegible] lbs China and 2[illegible] lbs Japan in 1872.

Of rice we imported in 1873 [illegible] lbs against [illegible] lbs in 1872. The importations in the latter year were unprecedented.

The total sales for 1873 at the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board were $[illegible].

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The receipts at this point have very greatly diminished since our last week's report, though we are informed that there are considerable quantities yet stored in warehouses along the Willamette river, and quite a large amount could yet be purchased east of the mountains and in Washington Territory. A carefully made estimate of the amount shipped this year from the six counties of Linn, Lane, Marion, Polk, Benton and Yamhill places it at over 3,000,000 bushels, which would bring the entire surplus of the State up to at least 4,350,000 bushels. At this writing our market evinces a complete stage of inactivity, no transactions occurring worthy of note, and quotations being nominal at $1 8[illegible] 90 ⅌ cental.

FLOUR—Under the influence in the decline in wheat this commodity is showing some indications of a weakening tendency, and cargo lots of choice extra can now be secured at $[illegible] ⅌ bbl, though jobbers still hold out for $5 [illegible]. We quote good outside and country brands at $[illegible], fine $4 [illegible], superfine $[illegible]. The receipts are still large both by boat and rail, and the supplies on hand are much in excess of the current demand either for shipping or home trade.

OATS—Owing to the large stocks and dull sales in the San Francisco market and the approach of the Spring season at California prices here do not keep up very well, and shippers are acting with a good deal of caution, and seem indifferent about making large orders for future deliveries. We are furnished quotations at 45 cents, with the possibility of 47½@48 cents per bushel including sacks. The bark Royal now loading, will take a small shipment to San Francisco.

BARLEY—The local demand for brewing purposes is quite active, and prices for a choice quality are well sustained at $1 [illegible] ⅌ cwt. The surplus in the State evidently not large at the beginning of the season is nearly depleted.

FEED—We notice quite large stocks in the hands of jobbers, and with the limited transactions occurring, rates are slightly weaker. We quote Bran in sacks $1[illegible] ⅌ ton, Shorts $24, Middling $[illegible], Chopped Feed at $25a27 50, Oilcake Meal $39.

HAY—The receipts are growing larger than they were at the first of the week, but prices are firmly sustained at $14a1[illegible] ⅌ ton for good Timothy, loose selling nearly as well as baled, the chief demand being for home consumption.

POTATOES—We note no important change since our last review, receipts about keeping pace with the demand. Choice varieties for table use sell quite readily at 40a[illegible] cents ⅌ bushel, though large lots of inferior quality are placed with some difficulty at 3[illegible]a37½ cents.

ONIONS—The home trade being limited and our outside markets of demand dull, the large surplus in the State is moving off quite slowly. We renew our quotations of $1 50a1 75 ⅌ cwt as current rates.

APPLES—We notice the arrival of many large lots, some of which shipped to San Francisco find dull sale at barely living prices to the shipper. The home demand is amply supplied with all the varieties in season at 40a[illegible]c ⅌ box.

DRIED FRUIT—No change for the better has taken place. Apples still dull at 4½c ⅌ lb in sacks and 5[illegible] in kegs. Plums, with pits, 6[illegible]c, pitless 13c ⅌ lb.

BACON—We quote sides at 10a11c ⅌ lb, shoulders 10c, and hams 1[illegible]a16c. These figures are for good country cured bacon, well trimmed and thoroughly smoked. Such is in fair demand.

LARD—With light receipts and a fair home trade our quotations of 12c ⅌ lb in kegs and 1[illegible]c in tins are well sustained.

BUTTER—We notice continuance of full receipt and sales of large lots are made with difficulty. Our rent rates for ordinary lots are: fresh roll [illegible]; solid in kegs 20a25c; in brine 22a2[illegible]c.

CHEESE—The market is well supplied with a good article from local dairies and with importations from California. We quote jobbers rates at 16@17c ⅌ lb.

POULTRY—The diminished receipts have tended to strengthen rates and fair lots of chickens sell at $3 75a[illegible] ⅌ dozen. Turkeys scarce, nominal quotations $1 [illegible] apiece; geese $1 [illegible] a pair; ducks tame $[illegible] dozen, do wild, $[illegible].

BEEF CATTLE—The arrivals of late have been limited, and choice lots of fat cattle find ready sale at prices ranging from [illegible] ⅌ lb on foot. Inferior lots are offering at [illegible].

DRESSED HOGS—The local demand for packing purposes is fair at $[illegible] ⅌ 100. The receipts of the past few days aggregate quite large.

MUTTON SHEEP—Good lots sell readily and are scarce. We quote such at $2 [illegible] ⅌ head.

TALLOW—Quotable at [illegible]c ⅌ lb, with a steady demand and fair receipts.

HIDES—The aggregate shipments of the season have been quite large and the trade remunerative. Our present quotations are 14a15c ⅌ lb for choice dry, 7c for salted, and 6@6½c for green. Culls 11 12 cents.

WOOL—The news from the East of a probably active market with the opening of the spring trade has as yet had no important effect here, as the last clip [illegible] at first hands and but few transactions are [illegible] generally from [illegible] 25c ⅌ lb according to quality.

Shipping Intelligence.

There have been a number of vessels lying at Astoria for some days, wind and weather bound. We learn that the bar yesterday was quite smooth and the wind propitious, so that most of the vessels started to sea. The presumption is that nearly all passed safely out over the bar.

The Oriflamme will sail on Monday at 4 o'clock, with freight and passengers for San Francisco.

The Ajax will leave San Francisco to morrow morning for Portland.

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

THIS BANK HAS ESTABLISHED IN CONNECTION with the general Banking business a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT and will allow Interest on Coin Deposits made in accordance with the conditions adopted by the Association.

In establishing a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT this Banking Association has in view the benefits to accrue to a class of persons having small sums to loan, by providing a safe place of deposit, ample security and fair rate of interest, as well as to aggregate and bring into use idle capital.

For the safety of deposits in this Bank are pledged its entire capital and resources, and also the personal liability of its Directors and Stockholders, as provided by Section 12 of the "National Currency Act," approved June 3 1864, a greater security than that given by ordinary Savings Banks. Printed copies of the conditions upon which deposits are received may be had upon application at the Bank.

MEDICAL.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By enclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Post office, or through Wells, Fargo & Co, a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for, as advertising physicians, in nine cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR J F GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box 1,957. REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN. [illegible]d&p

LOUIS II OF BAVARIA

DESCRIPTION OF HIS GORGEOUS APARTMENTS AND HIS QUEER HABITS

Perhaps the most extraordinary mortal living at the present time is His Majesty King Louis II of Bavaria. Let us see once first how he lives. In the castle at Munich four apartments are devoted to his exclusive use. The first one is for the adjutants of His Majesty and leads to the reception room which is open to a few of the King's favorites only. The high walls of this room are hung with scarlet silk damask agreeably relieved by exquisite gold embroidery. Heavy gold cornices separate them from the ceiling and a series of regular gold columns on the damask contribute also to throw upon the walls. The fre-coed ceiling is embellished by half historical and half allegorical illustrations from the times of Louis XIV who is the political and social ideal of this modern young King, and whose taste in favor of gold color rich colors and delicate carvings is reflected in every corner of the castle. Adjoining the reception room is the King's working apartment. This room is embellished by exquisitely wrought reliefs in gypsum while the walls are adorned with three great paintings by modern Munich artists. The most interesting article in this room is the King's writing desk. Originally it was covered all over with a thick setting of gold at a late date this gold was covered with a layer of black Chinese lacquer, on which the designs of figures and ornaments were then cut out, so as to produce them in golden arabesques. The desk is covered by a series of each one representing a distinct school: one the Italian, another the Spanish, another the French, &c., &c. The writing stand is an imitation of the famous swan of Lohengrin drawing the boat, the swan being of silver the boat of gold, and the oars also of gold. This of course, suggests Wagner, whose marble bust, therefore, appears on the top of the writing desk.

A GLOW OF SPLENDOR

Next to the working room is the King's sleeping apartment, with a bed of surprising splendor. Of course it is raised, in German fashion, considerably above the floor, several steps, therefore, lead into the bed, which is surmounted by a vast

The bed itself is covered by a heavy gold embroidered coverlet, said to have cost about $1,000, and the chief figure on which is again the swan of Richard Wagner's Lohengrin. At each side of the bed is a washstand. The one which is intended for use is filled with the most costly perfumes, cosmetics, soaps, &c., that can be procured. The other one which is intended merely to fill up the symmetry of the furniture, is covered with lovely little works of marble, silver, alabaster, &c., each piece a gem of art. From this sleeping room a door opens into a winter garden, one of the

and gardening arts. It has been arranged so as to represent the whole earth, with all its tropical distinctions peculiarities of landscape character, and of vegetation and art and science have been enlisted to do their utmost to make the optical deception complete. Every step you take opens a new view a new piece of scenery. Here you see the grand mountains of the Alps covered with snow, there in the valley of one of them a miniature lake with swans moving along in their graceful way. Swans, indeed, appear everywhere, just as you meet everywhere some reminiscence of Wagner. The little boat on the shore of the lake has also the form of a swan. After the whole Alpine scenery has been taken in by your eye, you advance another few steps, and the bursts in upon you. Forests of wonderful trees appear, filled with the brilliantly-hued birds of the Indies, while in the distance arises solemnly the majestic Himalaya, vanishing in the darkness of the clouds. This is said to be a perfect wonder of perspective-painting. You pass on a little and you enter the darkness of a primeval forest, with its gigantic trees of a thousand years' growth. Suddenly the roar of a waterfall startles your ear. You advance and behold a broad stream of water tumbling from one precipice to another, until far down below it changes into a mere little spring in whose quiet waters little gold fish enjoy their sunny existence. It is a fairy place, a scene from the Arabian Nights, and the marvel is how human ingenuity could work it out on so small a piece of ground.

So much for the King's dwelling place, now for

HIS PRIVATE LIFE

He rarely quits his castle, but locks himself up as persistently as if he hated the whole human race except Richard Wagner. He sees neither his mother nor his brother, nor his other relatives, nor his ministers, nor the men of science or art, whom he honors. He never invites any one to dine with him, and even the priest who calls every Sunday at the castle, to read mass, is often kept waiting for hours and then sent home. The Bavarians, who are a jolly people, do not like this at all, but, nevertheless, they cannot help having a sort of affection for the eccentric young man who cares only about one subject on earth, and that is the restoration of mediæval art, the art of the age of Louis XIV, and of the age of the Minnesinger, of Lohengrin, Tannhaeuser, and still further back of the age of the Nibelungen.

IN FORMER TIMES

Louis excused his seclusion by pleading business. He has bravely gotten over that stage now, and whenever a cabinet council is to be held, or some other official function to be performed he details his brother Leopold to represent him, and meanwhile employs his own valuable time in unraveling some new puzzling musical intricacies of Wagner or Liszt, or poring over some memoirs of the time of Louis XIV, to see if he cannot discover some new matter of ceremony or art, which to introduce to the present degenerate age. For King Louis II, of Bavaria has of late allowed the bizarre taste of the Grand Monarch to occupy his mind, even somewhat to the exclusion of Wagner's music, though he deplorably lacks Louis XIV's love of popularity. Thus he recently caused to be performed in his Royal Theater

A VERY PRETTY BALLET,

"A Ball at the Court of Louis XIV," but instead of throwing the doors open to all Muencheners, our bizarre friend ordered the performance to begin at midnight, and was himself the sole auditor in the theater. This was very discouraging to the performers, and when the same thing had occurred a few evenings the performers revolted. The young King hates scenes, and accordingly acceded to their urgings, and Munich rejoiced. But alas! only for a short while. For though the ballet is a good one of its kind, it is not sensational enough for modern ears, and particularly not for people brought up to feast on the richly flavored music of Wagner. So they went to sleep over the first public performance, and thought it would be the last. But the King's mind had not so decided. He had the piece repeated different times and as he is very capricious, it often happened that a very attractive piece would be announced by the manager of the theater for the evening, and when the evening came and the house was crowded with expectant Muencheners the announcement was made that by command of his Majesty, the ballet, "A Ball at the Court of Louis XIV" had been substituted. Indeed, the despotic way in which he controls the theater sorely taxes the patience of the Muencheners, and of every one connected with the theater.

AS FOR THE POLITICAL NOTIONS

of the King they may be said to be embraced in one word anti Hohenzollern. Much as he himself has done to assist in the formation of the present German Empire he has a cordial aversion to it at present to the Emperor William and everybody connected with it. Nevertheless he does not allow those feelings to show themselves unpleasantly or to dictate in injudicious line of policy. Though a Catholic and strongly subjected to Catholic influences he has also in religious matters, kept within judicious limits, and only a few weeks ago wrote a warm letter to Dr Doellinger—who is probably more hated by the Romish See than any other of the Old Catholic party—congratulating him on his fiftieth jubilaeum.

A man named James Miller fifty years of age got lost between Fairview and his home near Empire mine, on the summit of the mountain, and was frozen to death. He started home after dark on Saturday night, and was found dead next morning. The night was stormy and cold and it is thought he became exhausted and perished in the snow.

Grain in Store and Afloat.

[illegible] bushels of wheat, [illegible] bushels of corn, [illegible] bushels of oats, [illegible] bushels of rye and [illegible] bushels of barley against [illegible] bushels one week ago and [illegible] bushels at this period last year.

New York warehouses contained on the [illegible] [illegible] bushels of wheat, [illegible] bushels of corn, [illegible] bushels of oats, [illegible] bushels of rye, [illegible] bushels of barley and [illegible] bushels of malt.

The visible supply of grain in the United States and Canada December [illegible] was: Wheat [illegible] bushels; corn [illegible] bushels; oats [illegible] bushels; barley [illegible] bushels; rye [illegible] bushels.

The exports of breadstuffs and provisions from the ports of Portland Me, Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore for the week ending January [illegible] were: flour [illegible] barrels; wheat [illegible] bushels; corn [illegible] bushels; pork [illegible] barrels; bacon [illegible] pounds; lard [illegible] pounds.

The exports of flour, grain and provisions from Chicago for the week ending January 6th, sum up 60,948 barrels of flour, 947,8[illegible] bushels of grain, [illegible] barrels of beef, 2,251 barrels of pork, 7,480,038 pounds of cut meats and [illegible] pounds of lard.

The aggregate grain receipts at the Western lake ports during the year 1873, were 173,[illegible] bushels including flour reduced to bushels which shows a large and steady increase over former years. In the year 1870 the receipts at the same ports amounted to 111,281,749 bushels, in 1871, 130,023,95[illegible] bushels and in 1872 144,466,[illegible] bushels. Sixty six per cent of these receipts passed to the seaboard via Buffalo.

Trade of San Francisco.

The Commercial Herald in its annual trade review contains a mass of carefully prepared statistics from which we condense the following. The Grain Bag trade for 1873 stands thus:

	BAGS
Stock on hand January 1, 1873	1,000,000
Imports per sailing vessels	[illegible]
Imports per steamer	4,000,000
Imports by rail	200,000
Receipts from Oakland Jute Manufacturing Co	1,[illegible]00,000
Total supply	1[illegible]
Consumption, season of 1873	10,[illegible]
Sales and shipments to Oregon	1,[illegible]
Surplus stock carried over	1,[illegible]00,000 — 10,[illegible]

The quantity of Grain Sacks sold and manufactured in 1873 by the California Jute Manufacturing Company at Oakland was upward of 2,000,000 and the ensuing season will probably give them a showing of over [illegible] Bags not including Wool Sacks, Potato Sacks, etc.

The receipts of coal for 1873 are distributed as follows:

	Tons		Tons
Mt. Diablo	1[illegible]1,741	Vancouver Island	31,[illegible]
Coos Bay	38,066	Chile	100
Bellingham Bay	21,211	Australia	[illegible]
English	52,616	Seattle	13,[illegible]
Cumberland	8,8[illegible]	Rocky Mountain	1,[illegible]
Anthracite	18,29[illegible]	Japan	50

The imports of sugar for 1873 were [illegible] lbs against [illegible] lbs in 1872.

The imports of coffee in 1873 amounted to 12,2[illegible] lbs, received from the following sources: Central American lbs 11,00[illegible]; Hawaiian 274,500; Java, 180,000; Manila, 1,0[illegible]; Mocha [illegible]; Tahiti 2,100.

In 1873 we imported [illegible] lbs China and 2,[illegible] lbs Japan tea, against 2[illegible] lbs China, and 2,349,600 lbs Japan in 1872.

Of rice we imported in 1873 30,724,200 lbs, against 4,5[illegible] lbs in 1872. The importations in the latter year were unprecedented.

The total sales for 1873 at the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board were $146,395,000.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The receipts at this point have very greatly diminished since our last week's report though we are informed that there are considerable quantities yet stored in warehouses along the Willamette river, and quite a large amount could yet be purchased east of the mountains and in Washington Territory. A carefully made estimate of the amount shipped this year from the six counties of Linn, Lane, Marion, Polk, Benton and Yamhill places it at over 3,000,000 bushels which would bring the entire surplus of the State up to at least 4,3[illegible] bushels. At this writing our market evinces a complete stage of inactivity no transactions occurring worthy of note, and quotations being nominal at $1 8[illegible] ₩ cental.

FLOUR—Under the influence in the decline in wheat this commodity is showing some indications of a weakening tendency and cargo lots of choice extra can now be secured at $6@6 25 ₩ bbl, though jobbers still hold out for $6 50. We quote good outside and country brands at $5 50@6; fine $4 50; superfine $5. The receipts are still large both by boat and rail and the supplies on hand are much in excess of the current demand either for shipping or home trade.

OATS—Owing to the large stocks and dull sales in the San Francisco market and the approach of the Spring season of California, prices here do not keep up very well and shippers are acting with a good deal of caution, and seem indifferent about making large orders for future deliveries. We are furnished quotations at 45 cents, with the possibility of 47½@48 cents per bushel including sacks. The bark Rival now loading, will take a small shipment to San Francisco.

BARLEY—The local demand for brewing purposes is quite active and prices for a choice quality are well sustained at $1 40@1 45 ₩ cwt. The surplus in the State evidently not large at the beginning of the season is nearly depleted.

FEED—We notice quite large stocks in the hands of jobbers and with the limited transactions occurring rates are slightly weaker. We quote Bran in sacks $15 ₩ ton; Shorts $21; Middlings $21@25; Chopped Feed etc. $25@27 50; Oilcake Meal $30.

HAY—The receipts are growing larger than they were at the first of the week but prices are firmly sustained at $14@1[illegible] ₩ ton for good Timothy loose, selling nearly as well as baled the chief demand being for home consumption.

POTATOES—We note no important change since our last review receipts about keeping pace with the demand. Choice varieties, for table use sell quite readily at 40@45 cents ₩ bushel though large lots of inferior quality are placed with some difficulty at 35@37½ cents.

ONIONS—The home trade being limited and our outside markets of demand dull the large surplus in the State is moving off quite slowly. We renew our quotations of $1 50@1 75 ₩ cwt as current rates.

APPLES—We notice the arrival of many large lots, some of which shipped to San Francisco find dull sale at barely living prices to the shipper. The home demand is amply supplied with all the varieties in season at 40@50c ₩ box.

DRIED FRUIT—No change for the better has taken place. Apples still dull at 4½c ₩ lb in sacks and 5½ in kegs. Plums with pits [illegible]c; pitless 13c ₩ lb.

BACON—We quote sides at 10a11c ₩ lb; shoulders 10c, and hams 13a16c. These figures are for good country cured bacon well trimmed and thoroughly smoked. Such is in fair demand.

LARD—With light receipts and a fair home trade our quotations of 12c ₩ lb in kegs and 13c in tins are well sustained.

BUTTER—We notice continuance of full receipts and sales of large lots are made with difficulty. Current rates for ordinary lots are fresh roll 25@27c, solid in kegs, 20a25c, in brine 22a25c.

CHEESE—The market is well supplied with a good article from local dairies and with importations from California. We quote jobbers rates at 16@17c ₩ lb.

POULTRY—The diminished receipts have tended to strengthen rates and fair lots of Chickens sell at $4 [illegible] ₩ dozen. Turkeys scarce nominal quotations $1 [illegible] apiece; geese $1 [illegible] a pair; ducks tame $4 ₩ dozen; do wild $[illegible].

BEEF CATTLE—The arrivals of late have been limited and choice lots of fat cattle find ready sale at prices ranging from 3 to [illegible]c ₩ lb on foot. Inferior lots are offering at 5[illegible].

DRESSED HOGS—The local demand for packing purposes is fair at 5@[illegible]c ₩ lb. The receipts of the past few days aggregate quite large.

MUTTON SHEEP—Good lots sell readily and are scarce. We quote such at $2 50@3 ₩ head.

TALLOW—Quotable at 6@6½c ₩ lb with a steady demand and fair receipts.

HIDES—The aggregate shipments of the season have been quite large and the trade remunerative. Our present quotations are 11a11½c ₩ lb for choice dry, 7c for salted and 6@6½c for green. Culls 11 ½ cents.

WOOL—The news from the East of a probably active market with the opening of the spring trade has yet had no important effect here as the last clip is well nigh out of first hands and but few transactions are noted ranging generally from 2[illegible] [illegible] according to quality.

Shipping Intelligence.

There have been a number of vessels lying at Astoria for some days wind and weather bound. We learn that the bar yesterday was quite smooth and the wind propitious so that most of the vessels started to sea. The presumption is that nearly all passed safely out over the bar.

The Oriflamme will sail on Monday at 4 o'clock with freight and passengers for San Francisco.

The Ajax will leave San Francisco to-morrow morning for Portland.

MEDICAL.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, puffing their skill in curing diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Failure, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR. GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicine promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, by enclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Post-office or through Wells Fargo & Co. A package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the [illegible] [illegible] and pretenders who [illegible] dupe the unwary [illegible] whose names are to be found [illegible] daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco [illegible] places, are tradesmen [illegible] trades. Some [illegible] newspaper carriers [illegible]. The only way to avoid imposition [illegible]—it will cost you nothing, and [illegible] regret; for, as advertising physicians [illegible] cases out of ten are bogus there is no [illegible] trusting any of them until you know who [illegible] they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people [illegible] bogus titles, certificates, pretended [illegible], etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who [illegible] call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR J F GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box 1,957. REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN. — [illegible]
